

*The University of Wisconsin-Madison
Center for German and European Studies*

(with Global Studies and the Center for European Studies)

And the Madison Eric M. Warburg Chapter of the American Council on Germany

cordially invite you to a Discussion

with

Dr. Dietrich Thränhardt

Professor of Political Science, University of Münster

Germany and her Immigrants:

“In the past people called me a Turk. Now they call me a Muslim”

Thursday, March 6, 2008

4:30 pm

122 Ingraham Hall, University of Wisconsin - Madison
1155 Observatory Drive, Madison, WI

Free and Open to the Public, for more info call: (608) 265-8032

Dr. Dietrich Thränhardt has been a professor of political science at the University of Münster since 1980. His primary focus is on comparative politics and migration issues. Since 1980, Dr. Thränhardt has held a variety of guest professorships and directorial positions, both in Münster and abroad, serving as a guest professor of political science at the International Christian University in Tokyo from 1990 to 1991. He has been a member of dissertation juries in Paris, Nijmegen, and Amsterdam. At the University of Münster, he served as Dean of the Social Science Faculty from 1988 to 1990, and Dean of the United Philosophical Faculties from 2000 to 2002. Dr. Thränhardt also held the positions of Director in the Institute for Political Science and the Institute of Communications.

Dr. Thränhardt has been a reviewer for the Stiftung Volkswagenwerk, the Austrian and German Ministries of Education, the Swiss Fund for the Sciences, the Belgian Francophone and the Dutch Science Organizations, the Journal of Ethnic and Racial Studies, the International Migration Review, and the German-Israeli Foundation. He has participated in research projects with Volkswagen Foundation, the Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung, the Ministries of Social Affairs and of the Environment in North Rhine Westphalia, the Deutscher Paritätischer Wohlfahrtsverband, and the German American Academic Council.

He is editor of the series “Studien zu Migration und Minderheiten/Studies in Migration and Minorities,” as well as a member of the editorial board of the Journal Comparative Policy Analysis: Research and Practice. Dr. Thränhardt has authored publications in German and in English, and has translated books and articles in French, Dutch, Italian, and Catalan.